What is an IP55 rating?

The IP55 rating is a common standard for electrical enclosures and equipment used in various industrial and commercial applications. It provides a high level of protection against both solid objects and liquids. The first number in the IP55 rating, which is "5," indicates that the enclosure is protected against dust.

Does a battery pack need a high IP rating?

In general, a battery pack used indoors, maybe in a factory environment would not require a high IP rating, whereas a battery pack used in an outdoor or harsh environment may require a higher IP rating.

What are the benefits of IP55 enclosures?

2. Extended Lifespan: The protection provided by IP55 enclosures helps to prevent damage caused by dust and water, thereby extending the lifespan of the equipment. 3. Cost-Effective: Using IP55 enclosures can reduce maintenance and repair costs over the equipment's lifespan, as the equipment is less likely to be damaged by environmental factors.

What is an IP rating?

IP Ratings or Ingress Protection ratings are designed to rate and grade the resistance of enclosures of electric and electronic devices against the intrusion of dust and liquids. Plus how easy it is for individuals to access the potentially hazardous parts within the enclosure.
